

BELETH'S BUTCHERS

These ferocious warbands are tightly managed by Beleth to handle delicate tasks of hell in a brutal fashion. Their Grim Consecrants help manage the warband as former elite warriors, sold to Beleth as payment to recruit his Death Commandos to various causes. These butchers exclusively conduct missions under the cover of nightfall, utilizing and weaponizing the shadows against faithful forces. Explosive and deafening weaponry has been replaced with subtle and deadly tools. Conducting these covert missions, often in the heart of ecclesiastic territory, is only possible due to the extensive spy network Beleth has constructed via Quisling servants bound by an intricate structure of soul trade...

BELETH'S BUTCHERS SPECIAL RULES

The following special rules apply to a Beleth's Butchers Warband.

✧ Marked Target: At the beginning of each turn, designate an enemy model as the Marked Target. All models in this warband gain +1 INJURY DICE against a Marked Target. The first time a Marked Target is taken out of action each turn, you may designate another model in your opponent's warband to become the new Marked Target. Marked Target's remaining in action at the end of turn lose this condition.

✧ Cover of Shadows: All ranged attacks targeting a model in this Warband suffer an additional -1 DICE for long range penalties.

✧ Infernal Rivalry: Beleth is a rival of Mammon, this Warband cannot recruit Goetic Warlocks as Mercenaries nor choose Mammon as its Patron.

✧ Silent Missions: Due to their covert nature, this warband cannot include a War Wolf, Chorister, or Heretic Priest.

✧ Contract Fulfillment: When a Death Commando in the Warband would be taken out of action by an injury roll, treat the result as a minor hit and enter [EXTREMUM]. Place a marker indicating this state. That model remains in play until the end of their next activation, at which point they are removed from the field. If the model receives an additional out of action result before the end of their next activation the model is immediately removed from the field.

- Inevitability: A model with an [EXTREMUM] marker does not suffer the penalty to movement for standing at the start of their turn. A model with an [EXTREMUM] marker does not count for contesting objectives.
